

FROM LIABILITY TO ASSET: AET AUTOMOTIVE PRODUCTS REINVIGORATE AGED INVENTORY FOR PROFITS

CHALLENGES

In early April, Rydell Cars faced a common challenge experienced by many dealerships—aging vehicle inventory. Five New Armadas remained unsold on their lot for an extended period of time, ranging from 30 to 45 days. Despite various efforts, these vehicles were not attracting potential buyers & stacking up lot fees, creating a pressing need for a solution.

SOLUTIONS

Rydell Marketing Team, lead by Morgan Hibma -Marketing Manager, Mike Delohery - Marketing Coordinator, & Mike Longoria - Rydell Nissan GSM devised a three-pronged approach.

THE APPROACH

By leveraging tools like AET Inventory Studio, Rydell was seamlessly able to segment an Armada-specific inventory set across Facebook & Instagram.

2

Using DMS to Target Audiences Using PinPoint

Harnessing the power of PinPoint, they segmented customers from their DMS who had purchased an Armada (or similar vehicle) 3-5 years ago. They paired this with ad creative featuring an incentive for the Armada with a CTA to available Armada inventory.

Strategic Vehicle Placement:

To maximize visibility and attract potential buyers, The team strategically moved the New Armadas to the front of the lot, ensuring they caught the attention of foot traffic and passing motorists, thereby increasing the likelihood of sales.

UTILIZING VEHICLE INVENTORY ADVERTISING & HOW THEY WORK:

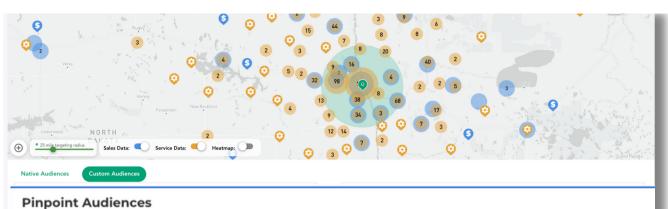

Utilizing Inventory Advertising:

Vehicle inventory ads on social media platforms play a crucial role in reaching and engaging potential buyers. By showcasing the New Armadas with highquality dealer photos, they ensured that customers could visually experience the cars' features & condition, increasing the likelihood of capturing the attention of individuals actively seeking to purchase a vehicle.

How Automotive Inventory Ads (AIA) Work:

AIA Campaigns use information from your vehicle inventory catalog, the Meta Pixel (on your website), and people's engagement on Meta to show the right vehicles to the right people. The ads dynamically update as inventory is sold and new inventory is added. AET Inventory Studio offers a fast & easy way to create/manage your catalog & deploy these ads.
